

I am completely against giving companies more oportunities to own even more radio stations. It is so hard to find new music by new and challenging artists these day. Its hard to tell one station from another most of the time. I would like more choices and having all the stations owned by one company isnt going to get me those choices.